Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, May 27, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Our action in people's hearts is unceasing; it achieves what is gained in a person's lifetime, while going well beyond, thereby saving precious time. All this cannot be assessed in human terms, yet the results are there and they remain a very valuable asset. The incarnate Master has powers that he himself cannot evaluate. His action is expanding, and he is gaining capabilities never before attained. He sees far ahead and the soundness of his vision is considerable; we leave it to him to act on inspiration, which we often suggest to him. With him, the Mission must achieve the maximum of its current possibilities to establish itself in the world. He possesses the relevant abilities; time and the destiny of this Mission will do the rest. We give him space for reflection before taking decisions that are necessary and expected by some of our abhyasis. He will be inspired in due time. Everything in this world is being built slowly but surely, with regard to what is essential. This world has a profound longing for spirituality, though it does not realise it at present.

Unprecedented events will occur in the future, leading human beings to a decisive awareness, for their evolution. Everything has its raison d'être. Changes are needed here below and are called for, in order to achieve the general good. Life goes on, and so does our Mission. In a century from now it will reach its peak in a very different context; it is being prepared today.

To all, a united and decisive action for this Mission, supported by ours.
