Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, June 10, 2016 — 10:30 a.m.

Do not lose heart, my dear daughter; you still have more to do. Your role as a scribe is important — have no doubt about this. These messages are charged with a very special energy that cannot be measured at the present time, but one day it will be done. The perceptions of incarnate beings will become subtler, and this will contribute to the general evolution. Sahaj Marg plays a significant role in this process; the awakening of hearts is the key point in this transformation. Everything will become more conducive to this action, one that will unfold according to divine plans. You will always commit yourself further to this work, and that will suit you. This is how it is, one might say.

Be blessed.
