Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, June 14, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

Relax and hear only our voices, those you are particularly fond of. Don't they enchant your loving heart? They carry you every day and transmit these messages that are awaited by many of our abhyasis. These writings establish a special heart link with them; some of them feel it and they benefit from it fully. The heart is the receptacle of love, that which produces the best and also nourishes the sensitive points of a being that are highly necessary for his or her evolution. This notion is known in our way, and it is worth repeating to further highlight it; this fact is not insignificant.

The effects of our work can be assessed at this subtle level. It starts from an organ that is critical to human life, but the heart is much more than that. It holds the secret of one's journey, the secret of one's soul and of one's history. A fervent abhyasi gains precious time; this method is not ordinary when it is followed as it should be. Its action is evident, although it is not yet recognised for what it truly is. Abhyasis who come join us discover its effects in their totality, and they are often amazed by its action, which is not fully perceived at the human level even though it releases a force that is active and salutary in its entirety. Commitment and determination are valuable assets, and it is up to each person to act as best they can. All are supported and carried by us, under our blessings.
