Saturday, September 4, 1999 - 10:00 a.m.

The Medium: "Babuji, tell me something. I need to hear you."

Yes, on a condition: no censorship. For us, you are a rare being, even if your behaviour in daily life does not reveal anything. We breathe the exquisite perfume distilled from your heart. It is good and restful for us to come and bathe in this sweet-smelling and loving place. Is it something like this you wish to hear?"

The Medium: "Yes, my Beloved, these comments are the best therapy; this soothing and divine breath refreshes my soul."

"We are closer and closer, my child. You, who enjoy being in the shade of my shade as you say, this shade is actually likely, one day, to put you in the limelight."

Babuji