Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, July 4, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

We repeat, your sufferings, well hidden from the eyes of human beings, are not so for us – they are all the more precious. The divine laws are a mystery to humans and will remain so for a very long time to come, before the achievement of a better world, based on true values.

Who really cares about changing it on this Earth. Beautiful and great souls are working on it, as far as they can. In their own way, they are creating a space of purity and inner well-being. Many of our brothers and sisters are doing this; even if their means differ, they are nevertheless going in the right direction, one that does not mislead. Sahaj Marg provides seekers with a means, a path to follow – for real reasons. The souls who have benefited from this method here on Earth keep the benefits and above all have gained precious time. To truly invest oneself in a path such as ours shows a certain wisdom, one that outlines before us the most beautiful of conquests, that of the Sovereign Spirit.

This Sovereign Spirit is the supreme force, the Deity, and therefore the sacred space where the higher powers produce their actions. All these principles are beyond the reach of human consciousness, which is confined to where it belongs, in the workings of the whole of creation. This force is immense; human beings are very small before it and yet they exist by the will and the fulfilment of the divine laws. The creative genius is limitless, that is how it is. May the best be accomplished for all.
