Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, July 5, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Let us go beyond these turbulences; let your heart become intoxicated with the Divine, far from a destabilising materiality. Thus occurs this extraordinary communion allowing the capturing of these lines, so very charged with our energy, perceptible to many of our abhyasis.

The ritual is repeated every day; soon only these pages will remain where we express ourselves with love, to touch the hearts of our readers.

No one is perfect, each must seek the best within themselves; the spiritual Masters themselves have known torments of all kinds and are exposed more than others to the manifestations of human nature. This effort is required of them in the context of an uncommon calling in the service of a great cause. Nothing is easy, ever, for any human being; faith and love, which are linked to humans, are the supporting elements that help in many circumstances to overcome the weaknesses inherent in any incarnate being, however great one's social position may be. We are working tirelessly in this direction, to bring humanity to a level of consciousness unprecedented in this current cycle. Nothing is simple, ever; we must continuously act for the good, without attaining the desired perfection. To the divine omnipotence, nothing is impossible; what greatness hasn't it accomplished, since the dawn of time when cataclysms of all kinds have ravaged the created worlds. May the best be accomplished more and more to enable human beings to attain the best that is, such is our constant wish.
