Monday, September 6, 1999 - 10:00 a.m.

The Medium: "Babuji, you are my beloved refuge, my joy, my happiness here below."

Yes, we know, you don't belong to this world completely, but you must still remain there to finish your work."

The Medium: "In these ecstatic moments, my Beloved, I can only say and repeat your name and thank you, my God."

"After this contact, you will question yourself: should this be kept in the text? Do not fear to show a little some of the secrets of our contacts. Opening one's heart and letting it express itself, what can be more beautiful! Grumpy people, entangled in their principles, will think what they want. They should get down to work and proceed in line with this true spiritual work which does not depend on the intellect, but on the heart!"

Babuji