Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, July 6, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Let your heart sing, as it does so well, when it expresses this extraordinary Love that inhabits it. To love like this is the most beautiful gift of a life; so many challenges and multiple unpleasant experiences are lived throughout it, that such a refuge is a blessing. We will not insist, yet these words are to be considered. Here, only spontaneity counts, the transmission of our words, expressing all the love emanating from our hearts, to touch those of our dear aspirants. Whatever it may be, a life is never simple; it involves many hazards, constituting the Karma of every human being. All the living kingdoms on this Earth are subject to divine laws. Nothing is done without reason – "doesn't everything have its raison d'être". The divine power weaves an immense canvas, on which laws expressing a higher will are inscribed.

No human being escapes it, thus one is caught up in this whirlwind of life, swept away by this power expressing itself in all acts of life, from the smallest to the largest; "humans plan their lives...", you know the rest, we have already said it again and again...

What is essential in all this is to manage as well as possible, to let grow in oneself this strength that is brought about by a true spiritual approach, capable of letting emerge in each one the true good that he or she possesses, the only thing that does not fluctuate and that can transform the being in the direction of what is good. To all, our endless blessings.
