Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, July 25, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Days and years pass, and rituals are renewed. They weave the fabric of a great history, long in duration and yielding benefits which cannot be assessed at their true value.

Nothing is done without good reason, at least in this Mission. This celebration, which was somewhat different from previous ones, has brought about a reflection and created a movement among our abhyasis; it has also allowed the wisest an interiorisation that is necessary and produces the best. Doesn't everything have its raison d'être.

No one is perfect on this Earth; the greatest of this world have also made mistakes, but in the end some of those mistakes have at times borne fruit.

Who can claim to be beyond reproach? The most exposed have heavy loads; whatever they may do, criticism very often awaits them.

This is how it is. May each of our abhyasis find within themselves the peace, the strength and the wisdom to always face up to life in all its diversity and numerous challenges. Nothing is in vain, everything is counted, you can be sure of this. May our endless blessings help the greatest number of people. This is our dearest wish.
