We can, from time to time, certainly speak about matters of the heart without any triviality. Heart bonds at this level are no foolish matter. Human love, and love related to the divine are not the same. That one, you can pour it out with utmost confidence, very freely. This love will never disappoint you. It is the essence of everything; it is impalpable, but it is the only reality in this illusory world. Please do not fear to indulge in it completely: you will not regret it. It will transform your life and will give you, in addition, compassion for your human brothers who are in darkness."
