Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, August 6, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

In the heart of silence is peace; there, the aspiration to the Divine grows, and over time it succeeds in realising its action. The transformation of the entire being is the objective of this action; achieving it is the ultimate reward. This is not illusory. It really does occur and can truly change a life which is devoted to this aim. Everyone has an inner potential, a history, and multiple resources of which even the person concerned is unaware — the mystery remains until the end. Surrendering to the Divine, to the Master who represents it and works for the good of all beings who trust him, is the best option. In the long run, our way generates results whose scope none of you can imagine. Such results make us truly happy and over time encourage us to go even further. Working for the good of all is commendable, and all wish to enjoy the benefits provided in this system. Therefore, may the best be brought about for the benefit of all, under our blessings.
