Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, August 14, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Open your heart to the transcendence of the Spirit; it carries you daily, thus establishing this uncommon contact that exists well beyond a simple channelled communication.

Your role is not insignificant. It is unique, one might say; the future will confirm these words. The perception of phenomena will become more accessible to all, and an important broadening of consciousness will occur. These messages will remain a very valuable asset in our Mission. They will form the basis of a unique teaching, highly desired for the special emanation they provide. This will be recognised and sought after: a comprehensive evolution of humanity, one that will bring about many situations and events currently beyond human understanding. The time of stagnation will have passed. Here, we are preparing for it according to established divine plans. Trust and surrender will be needed when such times come. When the transition period is over, all will become clear to human beings, and very satisfying. May grace touch the hearts of all our brothers and sisters; such is our wish.
