Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, August 27, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

Plunge into yourself, into this very special joy generated by this contact — one in which your soul goes into ecstasy, shall we say. One can feel this vibration in these writings; sensitive beings perceive it and are nourished by it every day, without fail. This long journey of messages has touched many a heart in need; we can see that the hearts are evolving and being refined, and we are happy for that. These messages will continue on their way for a long time and remain a very valuable asset to this way of the heart. When our dear scribe has joined us, a celebration of the heart will await her, and she will be lovingly encircled and thanked for this very precious asset consisting of these thousands of pages. This was her mission; love manifests in more than one way, and it has reached its climax here. May all our brothers and sisters take full advantage of this unique achievement.

Special blessings to all.
