Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, September 23, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Beautiful and great souls are not spared in this world. The divine laws are incomprehensible to human beings, so helpless in the face of life's many vagaries.

The world of the 'Spirit' also has its rules; they are very strict, and they would amaze in more ways than one. We are working to bring the human being to interiorisation, to surrender in the face of the inflexibility of this system, which is generalised over the whole of creation.

Here, acceptance is the noblest path. Aided in this by Love – this divine energy that every day performs wonders – the best is accomplished, you can believe it.

May you all aspire to the best and reach it, carried by the power of our action, willed and supported by this unique and magnificent action of the Divine. This is our unceasing wish.
