Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, September 29, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

Our beloved and great son Kamlesh is an innovator. He is doing the needful, in his own manner, by preparing the future of this Sahaj Marg Mission. So many aspects are beyond human perception, whereas we can see the future of the Mission, its action and far-reaching development, generating unprecedented progress. We inspire him to what is best; he adapts himself, tuning in to us in his own manner, and works appropriately.

The coming decade will be decisive for the future: new bases will need to be established, facilitating communications and the building of new high places of practice. Some of these places will be beacons, even more than they are today, for the guidance of our abhyasis who are committed to this unprecedented process. Everything will be done in its own time — for the good of this way of the heart and the faithful abhyasis who celebrate it day after day, with steadfastness and under our ceaseless blessings. This is how it is.
