Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, October 12, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

Dive into this ocean of love that carries you in these moments, connecting you to all of us; plenitude of the heart, of the spirit, is there within oneself. You are especially united with our hearts through this very special contact in which these messages are received. Here, the transmission does its work and passes on to the reader the appropriate vibration, one that can produce the best possible. Everything takes place in silence, from which true knowledge emerges — a knowledge that does not deceive. Our fervent and faithful abhyasis feel the benefits, including the emergence of grace in its most subtle manifestation. Rituals are taking place in the manner we wish; each person receives according to his or her call, and is always heard. It is good and reassuring to know this, as so many questions emerge from this unparalleled spiritual journey. A day will come when the divine purpose will be achieved. Understanding it and working accordingly indicates a real commitment that carries the graces we provide — graces that are capable of answering the call of each one.

May these very special blessings fulfil the respective expectations of all our abhyasis.
