Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, October 16, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Dearest and great son Kamlesh, this acquisition* is a true blessing for our Mission. Thus was it foreseen, long ago. Little by little, all the elements are falling into place to give this way of Sahaj Marg its full and appropriate scope, as wished by the Masters of the Hierarchy since the beginning of its formation. Great events will come to perfect what already exists; everything in its time. The future will surprise; a consequent expansion will occur, definitively putting into place this sacred edifice that constitutes our entire Mission. To you, dearest son, the best there is. You are carried by our love. Even if life as a whole is not easy, 'what must be will be', and the special blessing from all of us here carries you, and will continue to do so beyond your expectations, although it is not humanly perceptible.

Much love to you, to all beings who are dear to you, and upon the entire Mission, of course, with our very special attention on this blessed day.
