Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, October 17, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

Enjoy the powerful tide that carries you; a wave of love comes over you in these blessed moments of contact with the hierarchy of Masters — we who are so attentive to this Mission and to its dear Kamlesh, chosen by all of us for an action that is unprecedented in its magnitude. The modern means of communication make things easier and allow him to operate on a broader and very effective plane, supporting an expansion that is unprecedented in its speed and effectiveness. What are we — a breath, a nothing, and nothing more. And yet, that nothing is not trivial; every particle of life incorporates a broad general movement whose divine power controls the least movement, the least action, which is totally beyond the level of human knowledge. So many aspects need to be considered, though not yet in the current state of things. One day the divine goal will be attained through knowledge, that which emanates from the Divine by means of a power that human beings cannot assess; they are so small in the face of it, even if they believe they are powerful owing to current progress that is not particularly aligned with spiritual evolution as we wish it to be.

One day, life will go in that direction for the greater good of humanity. This is how it is.
