Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, October 20, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

Regain your serenity, that which has been carrying you towards our hearts for so many years. These messages are still being read, have no doubt. The slow pace of their publication is not new; we have witnessed it for a long time. Fear not, all is well in this area where time clarifies things. Our beloved son Kamlesh will see to the preservation of these writings; he is respectful of what emanates from the Hierarchy of Masters. He is, and will become even more, a great Master of this Mission — a Mission that will bring to the future world positive elements concerning the spiritual growth of human beings. This need will be increasingly felt in the future, and Sahaj Marg will respond to it perfectly.

This is how it is — everything is written and intended for the good of our faithful aspirants. Let the best happen.
