Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, October 23, 2016 –10:00 a.m.

Forget about this physical body, tormented and pained far beyond what science can grasp. Who can be understood in what they feel, in their physical or moral suffering? We do know, and can assess the level of it without being able to solve everything as we would like. Our help is nevertheless very active and positive; it goes far beyond human perception and acts for the good of each one, even if it is not apparent. The complexity of life is such that surrender is once again recommended. Faith and love are the vehicles; they remain, so much so, the supreme refuge here. These messages, beyond words, touch the sensitive points of the being; their vibration acts in secret and produces the expected results in accordance with the inner call.

May the best possible be. We rejoice in the unprecedented progress of this Sahaj Marg Mission; it is making great strides and will one day attain its height, to our greatest joy.

Blessings to all.
