Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, October 27, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Each and every one has a long path ahead of them, marked by many stages with the same guiding thread – one's destiny. From life to life it is found, according to the divine plans and the necessity for all to advance in knowledge and to better understand the laws of Karma. This is inevitable; everything is counted and planned, so that what must be comes to pass. Great changes will occur one day in this world, and the human being, in a certain way, must prepare for them. Each of a person's incarnations is meant to refine them, to bring them to the knowledge of themselves, to enable them to advance more favourably in this quest for the Divine. No one is perfect; an incarnation is an opportunity offered so that destiny manifests, for the good of the spiritual entity, accomplishing this long journey, necessary to human evolution.

Doesn't everything have its raison d'être – following a spiritual path like Sahaj Marg allows one to somehow channel the numerous events of an incarnation, so that the best can emerge and save precious time in this long and necessary journey.

To all, faith and courage, under our ceaseless blessings.
