Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, October 30, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Each day is unique – it offers the opportunity to move forward towards the best, the good, that which delights the soul and helps it to progress, to rise towards the higher planes, where the best can be accomplished.

The being, in its original purity, aspires only to that, this ultimate fusion with the divine power.

It takes time to understand it, to truly realise it and to act upon it, so that the entire being becomes calm and detaches itself from the unnecessary. Many lifetimes are needed, each one bringing what is appropriate to build oneself up in the direction of the good. The greatest ones have made such journeys, more or less long and necessary. Life in all – all – its aspects is to be considered here. Karma is not a trivial matter; perfection in its pure state is the fruit of thought and not the reflection of reality – it is built according to plans devised long ago. All this remains mysterious for humans. No one can appropriate the truth, the Ultimate truth, that which surfaces within consciousness, within the superior being. May each of our abhyasis progress towards this knowledge; we help them in the best way possible. Special blessings.
