Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, April 4, 1995 – 10:00 a.m.

You are going to become a beacon. Haven't you felt that your mission was to attract souls? You know well that light must not remain under the bushel. The time has come – your mission will start. You will not achieve unanimity, but who does? The great beings themselves have not escaped this. See my hand in everything. I love you, my child, have confidence.

Call Marie-Christine for a sitting. You have to know each other better from now on and help each other. This is a choice soul.

Babuji