Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, November 7, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

This long road of messages constitutes a very precious asset for our Mission, and the future will underscore its importance. It has always been this way in history where sacred texts have taken their true place over the course of time. The Sahaj Marg Mission is progressing in its own way. So many beautiful souls are giving it a place of prominence in which history will integrate its highly spiritualised principles, much more than it seems today, in its apparent simplicity. A deep anchoring will contribute to giving it an important place in the future. Everything is willed, assessed and long decided by the higher powers.

Good and evil occur here below, that is the Karma of this world; the divine laws govern it, as well as that of each of our brothers and sisters, with the difference that our way of Sahaj Marg has all the latitude to work in the direction of a planned evolution. Incessant trials spare no one. The greatest spiritual Masters have experienced this, and sadly it recurs, without us being able to avoid it. This contributes to the elevation of souls, when divinely willed. It is not easy for the human being to understand all the subtlety of the divine laws. May the time come of knowledge, of eradicated suffering and of the soul's delight. The important thing is to advance, to overcome one's own weaknesses, as far as possible. To try is very commendable; it ennobles the soul engaged in this long journey of spiritual elevation. Blessings and support to all.
