Monday, September 13, 1999 - 8:00 a.m.

Yes, my daughter, your life will change in some way. These two dark years were fruitful for you, much more than you can imagine. You see how it's all relative!

"These poor human tribulations are necessary to your evolution. Well exploited, they are precious and constitute your capital. You keep your love and your gratitude for us intact. Never change! Remain in this frame of mind! Always give thanks for what you have to experience!

"The time on the Earth seems long to you, but compared to eternity it is only a breath of the Earth, i.e. nothing really. On the Earth, time is an illusory notion. You are under its domination, whereas it is a mere vibratory mechanism, with which your vibrations harmonize themselves, and they make you lend importance to it.

"On this planet, this is how it must go; it is the rule of the game. You have other discoveries in store; you will make them in your future lives. Be content with this current exploration; there is a time for everything. You all should keep heart."

Babuji