Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, November 11, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

Your heart, in contact with ours, vibrates with love; it benefits from an extraordinary transmission. Our words in these messages carry a special energy. Sensitive beings can feel it, and they benefit from its action as do all our abhyasis who wish to read them. Nothing should be neglected in this Mission where everything is intended for the general good; the future will reveal certain aspects of this that are still ignored. We must follow a logical order and adapt ourselves to circumstances without going beyond what can be revealed.

Humanity is struggling to truly progress — spirituality is not its priority. Everything will happen in due course as part of large-scale changes that will take place on this planet. A planned evolution will succeed in establishing itself for the good of humankind. This world is in distress. This is not new, and it is high time for the world to attain knowledge, true knowledge, that which leads people to the higher reality. It would not be wise to cover up these comments; our Mission is carried by faith, love and the reality of an evolutionary current that is irreversible. This is how it is, shall we say.

May the best be established in this world for the general good.
