Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, November 18, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Difficult, and at the same time so simple, is a life, when one is willing to see the bright side of things. It is not a long, tranquil river, as it is said elsewhere. The trials of each one are decisive for the progress of all. Such is the very principle of life.

An incarnation represents a page of a long history; from one life to the next, Karma asserts itself and governs the smallest details of each incarnation.

The goal to be reached lies within, in the heart of silence where sacred vows are forged for the continuation of this very special journey. The culmination of all this is no small matter; each person carries inside them a sacred space that eludes knowledge, in the broadest sense of the term. Human nature is much more complex than it seems. Beyond the physical body exist other vibratory spaces not yet recognised by science, which in the current era confines itself to matter, quite simply. A real spiritual advance will take place with the discovery of these different bodies that complement the attributes of the visible body, for every human being. Everything happens very slowly on this planet Earth, which will one day reveal many great surprises about the reality of creation in its entirety. The human being is so small in the face of it; they do their best, and this will one day lead the world to true knowledge about the whole of creation.

So it is.
