Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, November 27, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

We will remain in union of heart, whatever happens; when these messages – the only ones emanating from the Source – cease, our contacts will take place differently. Here or elsewhere, this soul connection will remain and will manifest in a different way.

Our dear son Kamlesh will always be helped; we are following him step by step, without being able to spare him all the worries inherent in this material life. He 'provides', shall we say; we appreciate his way of dealing with issues on both the material and spiritual levels. Each of the Masters of this Mission has had to face up to things, and still must today, more and more. We are very confident about the future, everything seems to be positioned for the best. The Mission is spreading throughout the world; India is no longer the central point of spirituality, as it was before. This country has changed a great deal and that is good, in a way. This aspect of life is so important; many souls in the world yearn for the Divine and are somehow awaiting a spiritual path like Sahaj Marg, one that is effective and not demanding. The results of this method are becoming increasingly evident to us. May they become so for the greatest number, that is our dearest wish.
