Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, November 30, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Our chosen scribe will, for as long as possible, help the Master of this Mission, Chosen and supported by all of us here, for the general good. 'Doesn't everything have its raison d'être'.

Our choices are not made in vain; so many aspects escape human perception. Here, they are sufficiently apparent for us to take them into account. The Sahaj Marg Mission has growing needs; now well established in certain parts of the world, it turns to the incarnate Master wherever he may be. He holds our powers, the strength that we instil in him to ensure the best possible on all levels. This action is not always simple; we have experienced it in times when everything was easier than it is today. No matter, the path of Sahaj Marg is growing and is firmly positioned, carried by our love and constant blessings in support of its action. In its current difficulties, humanity needs to refer to true values, those of the heart, the seat of the soul where the best is built.

May surrender and confidence strengthen ever more the life of each one on their personal journey, carried by the momentum and unceasing action of a spiritual way in full expansion, at different levels, imperceptible to the human being but oh so decisive for all. This is how it is.
