Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, December 4, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

These seminars are very important: not only do they bring together a certain number of abhyasis, but they also attract our respective actions for the general good. We would like to emphasise that these days are so very necessary for the cohesion of the group and the good of each participant — all this is to be considered and not neglected. Sahaj Marg is making progress. It will continue to touch hearts and lead them to a sacred space where the best can be accomplished.

The cleaning practice is important; it leaves a greater space for the action of transmission as it exists in our way. This fact is not common. Something is accomplished here that cannot really be explained, yet it is so very effective. We are truly delighted to see the benefit achieved over these years of perseverance for our practitioners. Nothing is trivial in such a process. The acquired asset is precious and lasts beyond time, resurfacing from life to life and constituting the characteristic elements of karma. Everything is counted and recorded for the best that can be in the life of each person.

Special blessings to all.
