Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, December 11, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

It is good to see Sahaj Marg spreading in so many countries; the visit of this brother from Morocco has delighted your heart and rekindled in you beautiful memories of the past. Each of our abhyasis assimilates in their own manner what we provide them through this spiritual path of Sahaj Marg, whose effects are not commonplace. These effects cannot be detected easily, but they are surely there. The subtle bodies are both connected to and dissociated from matter; they exist and are transformed according to the profound aspiration of the seeker. Here, in Sahaj Marg, an expansion of consciousness fosters and quenches the thirst for the Divine; it meets the calls of an ardent soul pursuing this quest for the sacred, the ultimate goal of every human being. Whether one is conscious of this possibility or not, sooner or later one awakens to this reality and advances accordingly. A time will come when a major change will occur at this level; the future will offer prospects that have never been attained for the whole of humanity.

In their own way, the messages convey a subtle energy that is humanly undetectable. The world of matter does not facilitate an expansion of consciousness. Only a deep, personal and persistent call can transform one's life and lead it to the highest level of its fulfilment. Sahaj Marg contributes to it; love and faith in our action can accomplish that which is humanly unimaginable.

Special blessings to all.
