Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, December 21, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

Let yourself be swept away by the wave of love that so delights your heart — a heart that is receptive to all our attention. These thousands of messages have created such a bond between us. Through them it is easy for my heart to express every day that which is needed. Time goes by, and the same words are repeated; how to do otherwise? This is a characteristic feature of all writings that renew themselves over time. The transmission they generate is more important than anything else, even though it is necessary to comply with a form, the simplest there is, to carry the transmission in the best possible way.

So much love is distilled in our hearts. The united Masters are watching over this Mission as it would watch over the most precious asset in the world. The Master of the Mission is monitored, heard and properly understood in his creativity. This creativity is necessary in the difficult times of today: this is worth emphasising. It is not easy to manage an 'enterprise' of this kind, in which so many aspects are to be considered. Sahaj Marg continues on its way as never before. One might say it is at a turning point in its history; its continuation will be very beautiful and very active in the world, for the good of beings who will follow it.

May all be strengthened and blessed.
