Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, January 2, 2017 — 10:30 a.m.

Despite the great capabilities we have here, we do not have the power to stop all the beings that imitate us; many entities do so, abusing the trust of human beings who are receptive to their comments. What more can we say about this; we have already made many recommendations on the matter. Sahaj Marg is not the first path whose actions have been imitated. May our abhyasis not let themselves be deceived, but rather try to discriminate between truth and falsehood.

We are following our way, that which is offered to us and which is becoming more precise as time goes by. We are moving at the intended pace. Some of our aspirants would like us to be moving faster, more intensely, in terms of the revelations that will be made in due time. The rigour of laws does not allow us to go beyond that which is permitted in the present era. Following what is currently offered already allows one to go beyond daily banality. Spirituality, in the context of what we offer, is very valuable, you can be sure. Not everything can be measured in the sense that you understand; true advancement cannot be measured in human terms, according to your wishes. Doesn't everything have its raison d'être?

On this day, unceasing and special blessings to all who call for them. This is how it is.
