Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, February 19, 2017

My dear daughter, this stage is not easy for you, but fortunately some of your sisters are by your side and alleviate the weight of your troubles. We would like to spare you all these difficulties; everyone is doing what they can to help you. Be at peace. Your soul is nourished by the divine source, and your action will continue elsewhere, carried by this love that is mutually inspired by the best that is.
