Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, February 23, 2017 – 10:00 a.m.

The world is changing; the Mission is evolving and will restructure itself differently in times to come – our dear son Kamlesh will offer it very productive prospects. It must innovate, while following a thread conducive to its changing course without distancing it from the foundations that established it. Spirituality must assume a prominent place there and pursue this unprecedented trajectory. India will remain, in this, the beacon of the world. Great edifices will be constructed there to bring about a new era, decisive in achieving this objective – aiming to uphold the laws of the past, while at the same time bringing spirituality to its highest point, as long foreseen. Spirituality is to be redefined according to present-day principles; tomorrow we will resume as planned to help define the current parameters.
