Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, February 24, 2017 – 10:00 a.m.

This exchange between our hearts has generated so much love that this love will mark it forever. Noticeably, it has changed a spiritual journey that will, in the future, assert itself more and more across the Earth, given its power of action – decisive for more reasons than one and making its way in hearts in an unprecedented manner. This Mission has still so much to bring, far beyond what is imaginable today. In some parts of India, high meeting places will be created, places capable of multiplying its current action. The future still holds beautiful surprises; the best is yet to come.

So it is.
