Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, March 7, 2017 – 10:00 a.m.

Within you lie peace and harmony. They carry you in this daily contact, bringing the fragrance of an uncommon love that is conducive to this state of receptivity. In this way we communicate according to the divine laws; the path of Sahaj Marg holds enough strength to express itself in this manner. In the future, it will become more and more a reference, and it will enlighten souls in search of the noblest goal amid this humanity that is in distress and searching for a suitable path to give it a solid foundation. A new world will emerge in the future, one that is robust enough to chart out laws capable of transforming it. Everything is being put into place for this. May all be sufficiently committed and contribute to this unprecedented transformation.
