Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, March 10, 2017 – 10:00 a.m.

Everything is planned; everything in a life happens in a timely manner, according to the laws of Karma. Human beings want to decide what happens to them, but that cannot be. They must submit to what constitutes the unfolding of their incarnations. All bring them the experiences necessary for their blossoming. Trials follow one another, joys too. Everything conforms to the divine plans, and that for the good of each one. It is not always simple for the human being to accept the heaviness of this Karma. Edifying it is in the long run.

May each one comply with this heaviness and take full advantage of its teachings.

Blessings to all.
