Saturday, September 18, 1999 - 8:30 a.m.

Our souls are long united, you know it; so, don't be reluctant to show what the impulses of your heart impel you to write in certain circumstances. Even if this does not pertain to the pure literary orthodoxy, never mind rules! As far as we are concerned, we appreciate only sincerity and the true love which can also translate into words."

Babuji