Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, March 26, 2017 – 10:00 a.m.

You must rest today; the number of these messages is large enough to warrant a break for rest here. These writings have been conveying beautiful things, words bearing love towards all our brothers and sisters, for so many years that a time of interiorisation and recollection will suffice for our dear scribe, and for all our brothers and sisters who are attentive to these lines. We wish the best to all, under our ceaseless blessings.

Babuji