Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, April 3, 2017 – 10:00 a.m.

When the time comes for harmony on Earth, for peace between peoples, a unique system will be established, bringing this world to an unprecedented progress.

What does not seem possible today will be so tomorrow. The higher powers go in the right direction and appropriately circumvent the difficulties inherent in many mistakes irreversibly made in the past. Significant changes will occur to facilitate the integration of the human being, in an unprecedented system of life.

Everything is being put into place slowly, adapting as well as possible to what this world offers us; it is still very limited in its rise to the world of the Spirit which cannot easily open itself to the multitude, little prepared as yet for such an approach. The elements are put in place slowly, but in a very satisfactory way.

Life of the future will reveal many surprises; humankind will have to adapt to unprecedented climatic changes, nonetheless conducive to an ultimate and brilliant transformation. All will be well, you can be sure of that. This is how it is.
