No, the source has not dried up... we spare you, that's all. We know that, by yourself, you will never slow down. We must be very vigilant with you to avoid arriving at moments of extreme tiredness, which may be difficult to recover from. We know that it is in your nature to drain yourself of strength and we must take account of it. Why wouldn't you keep these lines? People should actually know that the fact of receiving these messages is no easy task, especially in your health state. The Mission is extending slowly in the world, but its borders are already marked out. It is going its way to where it must go. The third millennium being much alluded to in various areas will be marked by cataclysms, but also great discoveries and the boom of spirituality, beyond the framework of religions, dogmas, maltreatment committed in the past—and alas the present—centuries!

"The pope of the Roman Catholic Church beseeches forgiveness to humanity, but other religions are still violent and are not ready to calm down and admit their wrongs. All this will need to be counterbalanced [through] ways where one will be able to get to the heart of the matter, with freedom of action and mutual respect. That is not conceivable otherwise.

"There will always be suspect movements led by unscrupulous and domineering beings. It is necessary to be very vigilant in this area. Rest reassured; you have made the right choice; from every standpoint, you needn't worry! Human frictions are inevitable, but they occur in all environments, even family ones. That is the way it goes, that's part of the game; so will it be until the end of time. What is important is to be in the right way and to advance at full speed. Blessings."
