Tuesday, September 21, 1999 - 10:00 a.m.

Let's leave off there for today, my child; endure this new test. You are so fragile! We are so unhappy to see you suffering. I will not speak to you about patience again, you belong to this school for too long. Please, don't lose heart; you know that you must set an example of surrender."

The Medium: "I do not think I set a good example, Babuji. I complain too often, I think, but it is probably human."

"You are doing your best, and it is remarkable. We are with you, as always. We will meet again during the sitting."

Babuji