Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, May 26, 2017 – 10:00 a.m.

Repeating things is necessary, we do not refrain from it – why would we! Life draws us along in a continuous movement, which is its very principle. It is not simple to understand it – so many difficulties arise that one doesn't expect. Destiny weaves its web, quite far from human assessment. Adapting to the difficulties of life is not always easy; generally they make one grow, as they say.

Sahaj Marg accompanies the seeker on this journey, not an easy one in many respects. It helps much more than it seems – doesn't everything have its raison d'être! The work of the Master is not trivial; is he himself truly aware of it. Each one of us has left our mark and done our best, as does our dear Kamlesh, on whom all our attention is fixed. Does he truly realise it. It is not simple to assume such a role! Becoming conscious of it allows one to take a big step. The proof of our love, he already has, and he will have it more and more. So it is. May grace embellish all things.
