Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, May 23, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

A day will come when the divine goal will be achieved; isn't this prospect heartening! The concerted action of the Masters and the commitment of all our brothers and sisters create a vibratory motion in which spirituality can work wonders. Nothing is obvious here below; for our part, we can see the results, and they are pleasing. All these years of perseverance and commitment to this way of the heart, essential in its effects, have yielded the best outcome. How can we not rejoice and emphasise it once again – the future will confirm these statements, and the Mission will hold a choice place in this world. Tomorrow's world will be different: when humans have reverted to real values after multiple upheavals, they will comply with a lifestyle more conducive to an unprecedented spiritual evolution. That time is not for tomorrow, but it is coming.

Valuable time is saved by following a spiritual way more in line with what humanity will become. Each incarnation is meant to help humans advance on their journey towards the Eternal. An incarnation offers humans a rare opportunity to progress, to foster the work of the Master in charge of their eternal destiny. All are precious and properly followed; time is short, and we want excellence for the whole of this extraordinary Mission. All participate in the great feast in which the soul delights in loving and worshipping the Great Beings dedicated to their elevation towards the best.

To all, blessings and love.
