Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, May 28, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

Exactitude is desirable in this kind of rendezvous where divine love impels this transmission. These writings are the emanation of this power. Mediumship is necessary, but not sufficient. Our choices are not made in vain; this is how it is, shall we say once again. In our own manner, we deliver a teaching upon which times to come will be nourished. Abhyasis need such sustenance, and those who recognise and appreciate it are blessed. They have access to a vibrational level that accelerates their perception of this exceptional transmission of the incarnate Master. Such phenomena are not easily understood by humans, but such is reality, and our Mission stands out in that respect.

Other methods will be used in the distant future; this is not for tomorrow; we only want to emphasise here the means available to our way both now and in the long view. Our way sets its sights very high and very far in time. In this area, predictions are valid; they are not based on probabilities, but on a will at the highest level. This path is blessed – we can say it here – and it will contribute to the elevation of humankind; so is it intended and so will it be. In this way, surrender to the Divine is wondrous in its effects.

Blessings to all.
