Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, March 14, 2001 – 8:00 a.m.

Be in surrender regarding this situation that troubles you infinitely. We understand you, but things can't be as simple as you would like.

The subtle part of a being, to call it so, can manifest itself to a medium, without the latter being aware of it. A highly spiritual power amplifies this phenomenon.

Why shouldn't my son have this surprising possibility of communicating with you, even if it doesn't come up to his conscious mind? So be patient, everything will eventually take a form that suits you better and reassures you.

Be confident, my daughter, we are in a special realm. I already told you that you'll get proof of what we are putting forward. This facet of your mediumship must no longer astonish you. In this domain, you're not at the end of your surprises.

Doubt must no longer stop you constantly. You're limiting yourself in your perceptions and that's a pity. You've reached a level that allows you to make astonishing incursions, for non-mediums, into spheres that are beyond the reach of your peers.

A new message for your Master will reopen the dialogue on the material plane.

Don't worry, that's all he's waiting for.

The Medium: Forgive me Babuji for not being as docile as I should be – you understand me, don't you?
From now on, I promise to take these messages as they come, without reacting.

Don't magnify the difficulties, keep moving forward quite simply in trust, surrender and love. We bless you.

Babuji
