Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, March 15, 2001 – 10:00 a.m.

To you, my dear son, let nothing either trouble or destabilize you. The Mission is in full mutation, and that will continue for some time. It needs to be both purified and strengthened. Its strong points must emerge, along with the people capable of serving it intelligently. It's not always easy to detect the real human and spiritual capacities of beings who gravitate to different parts of the world where our Mission is established. They must prove themselves over enough time. Remoteness doesn't make things easier, but within this decade, a solid structure will be set up as far as responsibilities are concerned.

Your common sense and your perceptiveness in this domain will foster the desired inspiration.

India is the chosen country of our path. Our compatriots are capable of seizing all its subtlety and force. In the West, it is taking root differently. One must allow time for minds to adapt and grasp the true scope of the privilege granted them when accessing our path.

The motivation of abhyasis is not clearly defined, hence the hesitations, the lack of follow-up and real interest on the part of some.

No matter, the richness of our method is within their reach, they just have to really want it. When the time comes, they will be able to make their choice and derive the quintessence of it.

As always, we support you in your undertakings and bless you, my dear son.
