The coming year is likely to bring about changes in your lives; the main thing however, will not change. You must be able to adapt yourself to circumstances. Nothing really dramatic, don't worry. Learn, in all circumstances, to keep your eyes turned toward the light at the end of the spiritual path. Should you have to walk on brambles or rubble, nothing will prevent you from reaching the goal! Confidence must be the major asset in your hand. Without confidence, there is no real surrender and love. It is on this aspect that we wish to insist today. It is one of the four elements, including will, that form a strong foundation for the construction of the principal building: the realization of the being. We, we put our confidence in you; our union must be perfect so that we can bring you to the highest level. These are not mere words, but actual facts whose effects and effectiveness you will be able one day to notice. Therefore, confidence and courage in the face of adversity... With all our blessings."
