Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, July 24, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

In our Mission, birthdays have a unique importance. They allow for a very great number of our aspirants to come together for group meditations in the same spirit of brotherhood and love for the Master.

These moments of communion are intense; they weave bonds between his divine heart and those of our brothers and sisters, united in a common goal.

These days are milestones in the history of our way; they allow assessment of the progress in the hearts and the strength with which they put themselves into this action.

The Mission is growing; its impact is felt well beyond the number of our participants. By going beyond its mere framework, it helps humanity in its progression towards its desirable level of elevation.

These special days are rare blessings for all those who know how to pause and sufficiently internalize themselves by being united with the inner Master, wherever they may be – near the human person of their Master or very far from him. The communion of the Spirit must prevail in this matter. All do not have the possibility of travelling to him, which should not hinder them on this day of meditation and union of souls within the egregore of our way. Our Chosen Son is himself becoming divine; he establishes himself in hearts as a great son of God, succeeding in his mission beyond all our hopes. May all, on this blessed day, gather around him with love and in surrender.

Babuji